

Rachna Sharma

Weirdo

Kids' Activities

Weirdo is a story of Omar, who is in a difficult situation and finds a friend who speaks up for him. But that is not always the case. So how do you think the story would have changed if Liam had not stood up for Omar?

1. Think of adding a few more events in the story before the problem is solved.

For example, you may plan for a different ending.

Write a NEW last part of the story with an ending of your choice. Start from, I wanted to tell her what happened but didn't know-how. I knew she wouldn't understand me...

2. What does your family speak at home? What is the native language of the people around you? Learn about other languages that people use. For example, can you say/write 'Thankyou' in 10 different languages? Create your list and have fun. You can use Google Translator to help you write and speak in these beautiful languages of the world.
3. You read about Omar's challenge. What do you suggest other children your age do so that such problems don't happen? What would you like to tell Liam so he never does something like this again?
4. Use the following link to explore Immigration Canada and familiarize yourself with success stories.

<https://www.canada.ca/en/immigration-refugees-citizenship/campaigns/immigration-matters.html>